Sender: China (710)

Target: United States (2)

Issue: Retaliation (16)

Final Outcome: Ongoing

Narrative:

On 2024/05/10, China threatened that it would take “necessary measures” to safeguard Chinese companies if Washington stood by its sanctions on Chinese suppliers of infrared detectors, used in Russian drones.<sup>12</sup> The US imposed these initial sanctions on 2024/05/01.<sup>3</sup>

On 2024/05/22, the Chinese government announced sanctions against several U.S. defense contractors.<sup>4</sup> China sanctioned 12 U.S. defense-related companies including Lockheed Martin, Raytheon, General Dynamics, among others.<sup>5</sup>

The sanctions were justified by China’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs, stating the sanctions were imposed “after the U.S. “indiscriminately imposed illegal unilateral sanctions on a number of Chinese entities on the grounds of so-called Russian-related factors,” and because the U.S. “continued to sell arms to China’s Taiwan region.”<sup>6</sup>

The sanctions included a range of measures, including export bans, investment restrictions, travel bans, and asset freezes.<sup>7</sup> The U.S. government condemned China’s sanctions while reaffirming its support of Taiwan.<sup>8</sup> The sanctions are still in effect.
