EPISODE NAME: China anti-dumping EU brandy

2024/01/05 - Present

Sender: China (710)

Target: European Union (995)

Issue: Retaliation (16)

Final Outcome: Ongoing

Narrative:

On 2024/01/05, China initiated an anti-dumping investigation into European Union brandy.¹ Although Beijing denied any connection, the move was widely seen as a retaliation for an EU investigation into Chinese electric vehicles, among other important products.²³

China then imposed preliminary tariffs on Brandy, including most prominently Hennessy and Remy Martin, on 2024/10/08.⁴ The preliminary measures required EU countries to put down security deposits ranging between 34.8% to 39.0% on brandy imports.⁵ The imposition was again widely interpreted as a response to the EU's imposition of EV tariffs on 2024/10/04.⁶

On 2025/07/04, the Chinese Commerce Ministry ruled that China would impose duties of up to 34.9% for five years on brandy originating in the European Union.⁷ However, the decision exempted some major cognac makers who agreed to abide by minimum price guidelines.⁸

The EU requested consultations with China over the brandy investigation on 2024/11/25.⁹

The sanctions remain in place.
